State of South Dakota

Office Of The Governor

WHEREAS, Mrs. Winifred Ziemann is an incredibly gifted and dynamic woman who has devoted her entire adult life to the advancement of the library and the pursuit of knowledge; and,

WHEREAS, As long as anyone can remember, Winifred has been a librarian: at first she established a library in her own home for community use; and, as editor of the Midland Mail, she maintained a small town library in her print shop; later, she was the librarian for the Midland High School; and most notably, she was the driving force and the one and only librarian for the Midland Community Library since its inception in 1955; and,

WHEREAS, So great is Mrs. Ziemann's commitment to the written word that she frequently conducts community book fairs, provides pattern and magazine exchange services, and aids students in finding information for their research papers; and,

WHEREAS, A member of the New Century Club and the American Legion Auxiliary, Winifred has also been Stanley County Superintendent of Schools, editor of the Hayes and Midland newspapers, and co-author of Prairie Progress In West Central South Dakota; and,

WHEREAS, Mrs. Winifred Ziemann is truly an inspiration to all librarians, book collectors, and anyone who values the true joy of reading; and,

WHEREAS, From building that modern 10,000 volume public facility, Winifred has demonstrated that she is a true pioneer and a woman who is rightfully known as Midland's favorite daughter:
